PER CURIAM

Rickie Storm, Jr. pled guilty to eluding a police officer. Idaho Code § 49-1404(2). The district court sentenced Storm to a unified term of five years, with a minimum period of confinement of one and one-half years. Storm appeals, asserting that the district court abused its discretion by declining to place him on probation and, instead, executing the imposed sentence.

Sentencing is a matter for the trial court’s discretion. Both our standard of review and the factors to be considered in evaluating the reasonableness of the sentence are well established and need not be repeated here. See State v. Hernandez, 121 Idaho 114, 117-18, 822 P.2d 1011, 1014-15 (Ct. App. 1991); State v. Lopez, 106 Idaho 447, 449-51, 680 P.2d 869, 871-73 (Ct. App.

1984); State v. Toohill, 103 Idaho 565, 568, 650 P.2d 707, 710 (Ct. App. 1982). When reviewing the length of a sentence, we consider the defendant's entire sentence. State v. Oliver, 144 Idaho 722, 726, 170 P.3d 387, 391 (2007). Applying these standards, and having reviewed the record in this case, we cannot say that the district court abused its discretion.

Therefore, Storm's judgment of conviction and sentence are affirmed.
